The Leura Hill Eastman Performing Arts Center was completed in the fall of 2008. The theater, which has been acoustically designed, with wood paneling on the interior walls.

This project has also included platforms on both sides of the stage for rigging, lights, catwalk on the roof, state-of-the-art lighting and sound systems. Additional inclusions are dressing rooms, a scene shop to support productions, and a green room. This 15,000-square-foot theater will include 380 seats. This project was completed in conjunction with the Recreation Center, both projects were completed in just 12 months.

Building on our promise.
